Repair a Damaged House

Haiti is situated in an area of the Caribbean prone to hurricanes and severe windstorms. Many houses are terribly damaged each year, such as in October 2016 when Hurricane Matthew destroyed 80% of the structures in the Jeremie area. Storms destroy or badly damage roofs, outer walls, and porch areas, leaving the house barely inhabitable. Damaged or missing roofs on homes with only a dirt floor result in septic mud, wet bedding and an unhealthy, humid environment.

An amount of $550 will repair a house, replace a roof, and restore habitability, or $3,240 is enough to provide 3 or 6 families with the gift of healthy housing.

HHF is still repairing homes damaged by Hurricane Matthew in October 2016. Your gift will help us in our work to make repairs and restore stronger, healthier homes for needy families.

Food and Nutrition

With average incomes of $1.2 per day, people in our catchment are struggling to feed their families. Haiti’s crippling inflation has put the cost of even basic foods like beans, rice, flour, and cooking oil, beyond their reach. With your help, HHF continues routinely distributing supplemental food, especially for groups at greatest risk for malnutrition: children, pre- and postnatal women, HIV+ patients, diabetes, and the elderly.

Newsletter 2019

Looking back over the last 12 months at HHF, I am pleasantly surprised and proud of all that we have achieved under extremely difficult circumstances.

In the face of such challenges, HHF continues to remain in full operation as a reliable source of healthcare for approximately 250,000 children, women, and families in the Grand Anse region. Our staff continues to courageously conduct mobile clinics, delivering healthcare to remote locations and for the population living in the numerous mountain areas. HHF is also continuing efforts to prevent and combat widespread malnutrition by providing proper nutrition education and distribution of nutritious food, health care delivery through mobile clinics, and house visits for families that have not received care. Despite a limited amount of activity, among the many others HHF engages in, will help us achieve our commitment to changing lives – one person at a time.

I wish to state that all of our work would not be possible without your incredible generosity. It is also important to state that each day the lives of thousands of people are positively impacted by the consistent presence and work of HHF with in loyal and preferred staff.

Thank you so much for all that you do to help us continue our efforts and the special relationship HHF has with the Haitian people.

Madoka Miyata, MS, MPH
Haiti Country Director

President's Message
As I reflect on the past 38 years of my relationship with Haiti, I see many positive changes that HHHF has brought to the people in our catchment area of this historically impoverished nation. Your continued support, along with the compassionate commitment of our staff in Haiti, is making a difference, despite numerous challenges on many levels.

Political turmoil and severe inflation have caused the prices of basic items, such as food, rice, flour, etc., to become increasingly more expensive. Furthermore, food and other essentials, such as medications and healthcare supplies, are often not even available, as severe fuel shortages and civil unrest have made transportation of goods very challenging and expensive – experiences that also must be passed on to the local people, who were struggling terribly even before recent events. Such problems have also increased our difficulty in sending teams providing medical care to those living in the remote villages. As always, our goal is to help those who suffer the most.

Although many other humanitarian agencies have chosen to leave Haiti, we refuse to let the challenges stop us. HHHF remains committed to our mission, and, with your help, we shall continue to provide holistic and comprehensive medical, dental, nutritional, development, and other much-needed services to over 250,000 people in our region. Your help is needed more than ever.

Executive Director's Report
With this report, I am happy to let you, our donors, know that, despite the current challenges in Haiti over the last year, our work continued with many great accomplishments. And, if you are possibly asking yourself, “Does my donation really make a difference?” The answer is, Yes! Your donations are absolutely making a difference every day in the lives of over 250,000 people.

As HHHF prepares another season, we are once again and more inspired by the people we serve. We continue to display resilience despite not having access to nutritious food, clean housing, clean water, electricity, or reliable sanitation, as well as challenge in sending their children to school. This is further complicated by the country’s current political, social, and economic struggles.

Your support ensures that HHHF’s life-changing services continue: healthcare, food distribution, housing repair, and educational programs like Visionair and health and dental education to teach people how to maintain healthy lives. All HHHF programs are an altruistic endeavor in that some either provide more generic services – for example, educational programs in proper nutrition and providing nutritional support can help prevent a child from developing vitamin-deficiency diseases. Our dedicated and courageous staff in Haiti are the heart of this organization – they provide unparalleled and skilled care, but they need resources from us to do so. Your donations make this possible. We are very grateful for your generosity and ask for your continued confidence in our work.

On behalf of the Haitian people whose lives are touched by your generosity, thank you.

Marlenny Lowrey, MS, MPH, Executive Director
